Mission Statement

The mission of Scott Lake Lodge is to provide guests with the most memorable fly-in fishing experience in North America, offering uncompromised customer service and safety.

MEET OUR STAFF

JAN “THE YUKON MAN” PHOENIX, GUIDE

It’s impossible to sum up Jan’s life in a few sentences. He’s not that kind of guy. A Saskatoon native, Jan ended up in Whitehorse, Yukon where he is close to the moose, caribou and grizzlies that he chases in the fall. Jan started guiding in 1992 at a lodge a bit further south, but joined the Scott family in 2000. He has collected a lot of stories over that span and isn’t shy about sharing them in the boat. There are no dull moments in his boat.

Over the past few years Jan has wintered in Costa Rica. Jan’s plan is simple: spend summers on Scott for “many more years” and head south every winter, with a short stop in-between to visit family in the Yukon.

CARLIE HICKSON, MASSAGE THERAPIST/HOSPITALITY TEAM MEMBER

Carlie does double duty at Scott. She is part of the Hospitality Team, doing her share of cabin up-keep but she also does upkeep on many Scott Lake Lodge guests. A Certified/Registered Massage Therapist, Carlie spent nearly three years in Victoria, British Columbia learning just how far she can press those elbows into our customers backs. For most of the year, she works at a physio clinic in Nelson, British Columbia in the heart of the famed British Columbia heli and cat skiing country. Nelson is her hometown where she started skiing at four and still counts skiing as one thing she just can’t live without. She spends off time trail running, hiking and backpacking. Somehow she fit nearly a year of traveling in South America into her busy life and now is working on a degree in Health Sciences.

BRYCE ALBERT, MAINTENANCE TEAM MEMBER

In his second season at Scott, Bryce earned his place in the community here very quickly. He was brought in last year to help out in the kitchen for “five to ten days” he recalls. Turns out that he was one of the last people to leave last fall; we just couldn’t get along without him. He is, in his words, “honored to be part of this team”. The feeling is mutual around here.

Bryce grew up on the Sweetgrass Reserve about thirty miles north of North Battleford, Saskatchewan. He got into hunting, fishing and “shed hunting” for whitetail antlers through an uncle and has never strayed far from the outdoor world. He has lived in Prince Albert for most of his life, working as bartender, Deputy Sheriff and warehouse worker.

CLARE MARKLE, TEAM MEMBER

Another new arrival on the Scott Lake scene, Claire really has the travel bug. She has spent the last three years on the move, including a full year in Europe where she worked on an organic farm in France. She also has tasted life in northern lodges with three seasons at Plummer’s lodges both on Great Bear and Great Slave lakes, making this is the deep south from her perspective.

Snowboarding has been a passion along with horseback riding, but her long running interests have focused on art. She studied art for two years at the Alberta College of Art and Design and two more years at the Nova Scotia College of Art and Design, earning a bachelor’s degree in Fine Arts.

MEET OUR STAFF

LAURA HEBERT, HOSPITALITY TEAM MEMBER

Everyone has a first year at Scott. This happens to be Laura's first, but Laura is not a stranger to camp life. She spent two seasons at Sabourin and one season at Selwyn Lake Lodge, about seventy miles east of here. Clearly, she loves life in the far north. A native of Thunder Bay, Ontario, she attended Lakehead University there and attained a degree in Psychology. Like many at Scott, she has the travel bug and has covered Vietnam, Cambodia and Thailand. You just might hear her voice around the lodge this summer. Having entered quite a few singing competitions, she is not shy about breaking into song. She may not be quite ready for The Voice, but who knows. As she puts it, "I don't do modest".

GRAHAM "G" COULOMBE, GUIDE

Another Ontario native who just had to move further north, Graham grew up in southern Ontario in the Lake Nipissing/French River area. Graham started guiding in 2001 near Ear Falls, Ontario, and once he got the taste for the guiding life he has never stopped. At Scott Lake Lodge since 2010, Graham loves the Scott life.

The off-season finds Graham in his cabin on a Lake Superior tributary river, deep in the rocky back-country of Northern Ontario. Hunting for deer and moose, and fishing for steelhead and musky occupy most of Graham's time while he's away from Scott Lake. It's a guide's life.

JON "J5" WIMPNEY, GUIDE

The J5 thing goes back to 2001, Jon's rookie year at Scott, when as the new kid on the block he guided a lucky customer to a 50" pike, so he was "J50" but that was just too hard to spit out, so the nickname was edited to just J5. Jon was raised on the shores of Lost Mountain Lake in southern Saskatchewan (by the way, there is no mountain there) where his uncle Sparky put a fishing rod in his hand before he could walk. It was a small step to being a guide. Jon is also the company's Sales Manager and spends all winter emailing and talking to hundreds of Scott clients. His sales pitch comes natural because he spends 85 to 100 days on Scott Lake and the fly out lakes. On the water or on the phone Jon is a key player in the Scott Lake family. Just don't agree to play poker with him. . he's ruthless.

CODY "CODE BLUE" MYCHALYSHYN, GUIDE

Not many guides can claim to have started their career before they could drive a car. Cody is one of those. He grew up living the dream at his parent's fishing lodge in Ontario. He was in a boat guiding paying clients when most kids were spending their summers on skateboards. The call of the far north brought Cody to Scott Lake Lodge in 2010 where he dove into his new life with unrestrained enthusiasm. In the fall Cody will spend time camping, hunting and musky fishing back in his northwest Ontario hometown. But he spends every winter traveling the globe, visiting every continent and country he can get do, doing everything from beach bumming to fishing to bungee jumping to shark cage diving.
